History and Notes:	Wife states her husband was spraying EPA 71995-51 this morning, and started to have some mild tongue swelling about an hour ago. Currently, it is mid-afternoon. He is not having any difficulty breathing, or nausea, only some minor tongue swelling. The man is undressing to shower and hasn't taken anything to eat or drink yet. MRPC discussed the product toxicity. The symptoms do not correlate with the expected response to the product. Advised it is okay to give an over the counter dose of Benadryl but note it may cause drowsiness. Seek further medical help if an increase in symptoms. On follow up, a friend of the family stated the man was taken to the emergency department for evaluation.
